on the tips of the needles of an odorous pine tree spits a spider its web designed with precision and delimiting worlds curtailed by the breath of a wind that is evil in the savaging whirlpool that swallows all wailings amidst flights of stolen leaves lost in the woods

Guido Comin PoetaMatusèl